Naylor & Breen began working at the Goshen Farms property in 2014 and has been there for different projects on and off ever since. Naylor & Breen was first brought in after there were issues with some previous renovations and have developed a positive working relationship with the owners and property managers to ensure their complete satisfaction with each and every project that is undertaken. Naylor & Breen works hand-in-hand with Haynes and Garthwaite architects and their consultants on a design build basis to adapt the construction to an ever changing business need. Projects have ranged from rebuilding their sugar house and installing new equipment, building a new pergola and outdoor entertaining area at the main house, structural repairs on different buildings including the main house and barns, site work throughout the property, as well as various projects on the guest houses and other buildings. Naylor & Breen continues their work at this property and looks forward to more projects to come.
